Conclusion.

The year of 1917 has been an unusually busy one for this department, so much so, that it has been almost a continual condition that we have many times been forced to leave routes uncovered, owing to the great demand for officers on special work.

As will be noticed in another section of my report, the number of arrests has been considerably greater than other years but only in one case have we been faced with the job of apprehending anything more than the usual kind of cases.

On July 19, at about 10:30 p.m., a citizen and resident of Squantum, named John T. Finn, was cruelly shot and killed in the rear of his home. No arrest has been made in this case up to this date, but this certainly does not mean we are not hopeful of clearing the matter up.

The need of more signal boxes is more apparent every day as is also the great need of more patrolmen.

As stated in my report of 1916. I again hope that we may be able soon to adopt the three platoon system.

During the past year, a motor-cycle patrol was added to the department with fine results. This officer was chiefly detailed to handle the ever increasing automobile traffic and the results obtained have been most gratifying.

Again I ask that immediate and serious consideration be given the question of new quarters for this department and I again say I believe it unnecessary to offer any further reason than that given by a former Board of Health.

At this time I wish to thank all officials with whom I have dealt in conducting the affairs of this office during the year for many courtesies extended to me. His Honor, Judge Avery, and Associate Judges Cook and Pratt for fairness in dealing with the department, and all attaches of the court for kindly dealings, the members of the press for fairness and common sense in reporting the doings of the department.

And in no other year has the demand been near so great as the trying year just passed, when we were forced to seek favors from Mr. Crane, city clerk, and his assistant, Miss Lyons, whom we found always so willing to render any possible assistance.

Respectfully submitted,

DANIEL R. McKAY, Chief of Police.

PUBLIC BURIAL PLACES.

January 1, 1918.

Hon. Joseph L. Whiton,
Mayor of the City of Quincy, Mass.

Dear Sir: The Manager of Public Burial Places respectfully submits the following report for the year ending December 31, 1917.

By strict economy and the hearty co-operation of the whole working force of the department, we have finished the year within our appropriation, and I believe the result will compare favorably with that of any previous year.

The general appearance of the Hancock Cemetery has been greatly improved, with the completion of the contract for rebuilding the wall and fence, and such other work as we have been able to accomplish with the limited sum at our disposal.

The following financial report shows an increase in the total expense the past year, of $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, due to the increased cost of labor, material and growth of the cemetery. During the same period, the total revenue from the department has increased 12 per cent.

REPORT OF OVERSEER OF POOR.

Quincy, Mass., January 1, 1918.

To His Honor, the Mayor of the City of Quincy:

The Overseer of the Poor, in compliance with the city ordinances, respectfully presents his report for the year ending December 31, 1917.

The department has handled 314 cases this year, of which number 46 cases were added under Chapter 763, Acts 1913, an Act to Aid Mothers with Dependent Children. We feel that cases aided under Mothers Aid are beginning to show results and we can say that the results justify the expenditure of this appropriation.

The high cost of living has seriously affected the department and increased the expenditures of the same.

REPORT OF PARK COMMISSIONERS.

To His Honor, the Mayor:

The Board of Park Commissioners of the City of Quincy beg leave to submit the following report for the year 1917.

Parks.

Very little was done towards the improvement of the parks during 1917. The underbrush was cleaned out early in the spring, and the grass was kept cut throughout the season. The several ball fields were gotten in shape early, and the pavilions at Merrymount Park were cleaned out and repaired.

The locker building, which was built in 1916, was finished, and a toilet and shower bath were installed, a cesspool dug and pipes laid to the street for city water. These much needed improvements allowed many the use of the building during the latter part of the summer and fall.

A flagpole was erected at Ward 6, and on the nineteenth of April a flag raising was held with impressive services conducted by Mayor Whiton, Major Jones and a delegation of citizens from Atlantic.

At this time we would suggest that an amount be added to the yearly appropriation to cover the cost of rebuilding the road from Fenno Street to Park Lane. It is now so unsafe for automobiles that the matter should be delayed no longer.

A topographical survey of Merrymount has been urged again and again by former boards, and we are firmly of the opinion that this should be done, and some plan of development be adopted to insure the intelligent and reasonable work of beautifying the park and of systematically planting trees and shrubs to replace those killed by frost and fire each season.

Bathhouse.

This much appreciated institution was used during the summer of 1917 by very many more bathers than any other season. During the hot spells it was crowded to its limits, and time and time again men and women could not be accommodated owing to the great demand for lockers. Frequently the younger children used lockers together, rolling their clothes into bundles and checking them before going on to the beach. It was the only way the overheated youngsters could get their swim. More lockers ought to be provided, so that each bather can be accommodated, and we would suggest that enough be added to the appropriation to allow for an addition to the bathhouse.

Playgrounds.

This, the fifth season of the supervised playgrounds, has been a very successful one. It far surpassed in point of attendance any other season, and the standard of the athletics, dances, games, etc., was very high. The girls were instructed in the useful art of knitting and raffia work, as well as athletic games, and the boys were drilled in the finer points of baseball and athletics. A regular schedule was planned out, and the competition between the different playgrounds was intensely keen.

The boys and girls were divided into three classes according to size and age, and suitable prizes were awarded for the best all-round work, with the result that all the youngsters took part in the games each week, and the rivalry was very energetic.

The attendance for the season was 39,240, a gain of about 7000 over last year, the greater part of which was at Ward 3.

The grand finale was held at Merrymount Oval the last of August, and 1813 children took part in the exercises. Games and folk dances were played, and after a grand review around the track, all the children with their instructors gathered in the center of the oval, and pledged allegiance to our flag.

The citizens of Quincy, especially the mothers, are interested in the playgrounds to a very great degree, and we firmly believe that the health and future welfare of the growing generation are bound up in this system of child education, and we cannot agree, on the score of economy, to any idea of curtailing this department, but strongly urge that more funds be appropriated, in order that a much needed playground be started in Ward 1 the coming year. A playground for that section is a necessity, and we wish to emphasize the fact firmly for the consideration of His Honor the Mayor and the City Council.

JAMES H. SLADE, Chairman.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF MEATS AND PROVISIONS.

Quincy, Mass., December 31, 1917.

To the Board of Health,
Quincy, Mass.:

Gentlemen: In compliance with your request, I submit herewith the report of the work in this office for the year just closed.

The work of the office may be summarized as follows:

Inspections made..... 501

Meat and Fish Condemned as Unfit for Food.

Pounds of beef.....	32
Pounds of pork.....	18
Pounds of hamburg steak.....	2
Pounds of poultry.....	22
Pounds of fish.....	8

Financial Statement.

Appropriation for expenses..... $75.00

Expended:

Transportation.....	$13.50
Printing.....	9.39	22.89

Unexpended balance..... $52.11

The work of this office is divided into two parts: regular inspections of food stores, and investigations of complaints in connection with food sold. I have attended to the first of these, by devoting at least one day each week in making visits at the various food stores. I have investigated 11 complaints of individual cases where the food purchased has been complained of.

Practically no cause for complaint has been found among the larger food stores. The merchants need no reminder as to the importance of keeping their stores and fixtures in a sanitary condition, and their food-stuffs are wholesome and are properly kept.

Owing to the increase in population in this city, and also to the increased costs of foodstuffs during the past year, there has been a large increase in the number of small "corner" stores handling foodstuffs. This has increased the work of this office, as the prices and the competition have encouraged the handling of considerable food, low in price and in quality. Every complaint received at this office can be traced to this source. In some cases the food was of a low quality, but nevertheless pure. In a few other cases vigorous warnings were given to the store-keeper, which, I believe, have accomplished the desired result.

Owing to the increase in number of food stores and the present conditions in connection with the food business, I feel that considerably more time should be devoted to inspections of the food shops. I feel that frequent inspections, at irregular intervals, would result in the store-keepers handling a better class of merchandise. During the coming year I shall endeavor to find time for more frequent inspections of the various stores.

I desire to express my appreciation for the uniform courtesy exhibited to me by the members of the Board of Health and other city officials during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

MAURICE F. COHEN,
Inspector of Meats and Provisions.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF MILK.

Quincy, Mass., December 20, 1917.

To the Board of Health.

Gentlemen: About May first I began with a thorough inspection of each and every barn in the city that produced milk to get a general idea of the sanitary conditions, which were quite favorable.

I visited all small dealers who sold from five to ten quarts of milk daily, to investigate their ice boxes or means of cooling. I found them in a very poor condition, but by following them up I saw a great improvement. After these inspections I left a card with each dealer to show the condition of his place, and also a duplicate card for reference in the Board of Health office.

There were several incidents among the small dealers of buying milk in 8-quart cans and then bottling it in unclean 5c bottles to sell in restaurants, etc. All of such cases have been stopped now and the dealers sell the milk in the bottles they receive it in.

On one occasion it was necessary to compel the manager to even change his milkman in order to have the milk put up ready to sell to the customers. Since this change I have received no complaints.

The ice cream boxes were not in the best condition, in fact only a very few sanitary, but I kept in touch with all of these places about once a week until they were more satisfactory.

In September I inspected every barn and accounted for every milking cow, which includes nearly 450. They were in fair condition considering the high cost of grain, and with careful inspection often, I think the results would be worth making a try for.

For statement of receipts and expenditures see Auditor's Report.

REPORT OF INSPECTOR OF WIRES.

January 17, 1918.

Hon. Joseph L. Whiton,
Mayor of Quincy, Mass.

Dear Sir: I present herewith the report of the Department of Wires for the year ending December 31, 1917.

Because of the large amount of government work under way in the city and the aggressive campaigning of manufacturers of electrical devices to promote the use of electrical appliances for light, heat and power, many extra demands have been made on the Department of the Inspector of Wires and it has been taxed to the utmost to endorse the requirements governing electrical installation in Quincy.

The quantity of wire installed and the thousands of alterations and additions at the plants where contracts of the government of the United States are being completed have engaged the attention of the department, while many of the new appliances now on the market have required a special examination to determine whether they would conform to requirements and be safe for use if installed and whether the wiring recommended to supply the current for these devices was in keeping with safety and service.

Defective Wires.

Previous to the creation of the department in 1916, no effort was made on the part of the city to properly regulate and control inside electrical installation in Quincy. This condition offered an opportunity to men of limited ability, as well as others, to extend or alter existing electrical systems and many of the changes that were made have been found in inspection to be defective.

Experiences of electrical departments have shown that there is more danger from fire and accidents from defects which exist because of the deterioration of insulation of wire on old installation and unskillful alteration and additions to work than from work which was originally first class. With that in mind an effort has been made to correct, as far as possible, these conditions with the result that the danger of fires starting from such causes has been greatly reduced, and during the coming year the effort to improve defective electrical systems in old buildings will be continued.

Grounding of Service Entrances.

The outside wiring of the city has also received its share of attention. All new service entrances since April 1, 1917, and quite a few old ones, have been grounded according to the National Electrical Code to protect property wired for light, heat or power, from high potential currents and lightning and I recommend that all service entrances which have not been changed over be grounded as soon as possible.

The object of grounding the service wire at entrances as required by the National Electrical Code is a protection to life and property. It is largely a life protection.

Inspections in Buildings.

During the year 1917, this department made over two thousand inspections of wiring and appliances used for light, heat or power. These included inspections in four hundred and fifty newly constructed buildings and in one hundred and thirty-seven old buildings which were wired during the year. The balance of the inspections were made in other buildings where additional wiring was installed on existing electrical systems and old wiring and appliances which were installed before inspections were naugurated.

Permits to install meters for light, heat or power, furnished by systems installed before 1916, were not issued until all wires and appliances in the building were tested. This complete examination, made as a protection against defective wiring, was made by the department and no fee could be collected unless defects noted required alterations or additional wiring to the amount of $10, or more, as provided for by City Ordinance No. 105.

The following specified schedule of electrical inspections made of lights and other appliances installed is respectfully submitted:

Electrical Fires.

Electric wires were reported to have been the cause of two fires in 1917. An investigation disclosed that one resulted from some other cause or that the evidence of its origin had been destroyed and that the other was due to unskilful alterations and additions to old equipment which overloaded the circuits, causing them to be heavily over-fused (as the fuse is the safety valve). Defective drop cords were ignited and burned to ceiling, setting fire to same. Had these fuses been proper size "10" amperes the chances are that cutouts would have been open and removed the source of trouble.

The department wishes to call to the attention of all who use electricity for light, heat or power, that due care should be exercised in replacing "blown" fuses by others of the proper capacity and in keeping with the amount of current to be used. A fuse of more than "10" amperes should not be used on any branch lighting circuit and it is recommended that six-ampere fuses be used instead of the larger size.

Licensing of Electricians.

The law requiring that all persons, firms or corporations engaged in the business of installing wires and other appliances for light, heat and power, shall be licensed became effective September 1, 1915. The law which is being enforced, makes it unlawful for any person, who has not been licensed, to make repairs or install any wiring, fixtures or other fittings to be used for light, heat or power in any building. It is a part of the duty of the Department of Inspector of Wires to aid in the enforcement of this law so that all electrical work and systems will comply with the requirements governing such installation.

Poles and Wires.

During the past year, poles were replaced by the companies owning same, as follows:

	Poles
Quincy Electric Light & Power Co.....	191
New England Telephone and Telegraph Co.....	47
Bay State Street Railway Co.....	31
Total.....	269

Eleven lightning arrester ground wires on poles, considered a source of danger to linemen, were removed by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. on the recommendation of the department. The ground wires were installed on these poles when only low voltage circuits occupied same. The addition of high tension circuits to these poles changed the conditions, thereby making it necessary, in the opinion of the department, to remove said ground wires.

The relations which developed between the department and the public during 1917, were pleasant and the support extended by the city government has been encouraging. Contractors and mechanics engaged in the installation of electrical equipment in Quincy have shown a general disposition to co-operate.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK LINTS, Inspector.

REPORT OF THE ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT.

January 1, 1918.

To His Honor, Joseph L. Whiton,
Mayor of the City of Quincy, Mass.

Dear Sir: I herewith submit the eighteenth annual report of the Engineering Department for the year ending, December 31, 1917.

The following is a statement of the work done by this department during the year 1917.

Street lines and grades have been given at the request of property owners on accepted streets in front of one hundred estates.

Plans and estimates have been prepared for the City Council as follows:

Proposed street widenings.....	3
Acceptance of private ways.....	6
Plans for Planning Board.....	2
Plans for Board of Survey.....	3

Commissioner of Public Works.

Lines and grades have been given for construction of new streets, sidewalks and sewers.

The grading of the grounds of the Francis Parker and Daniel Webster Schools required almost daily attention during the spring and early summer.

New Highways.

Very little work was done on new highways owing to the country being at war. Only such streets as were considered as a necessity were built. Two streets, Lancaster and Lowe Streets at the Daniel Webster School, were built. Vane Street was authorized to be built but no construction work was done in 1917.

Rebuilding Streets.

Billings Road was rebuilt from Hancock Street to West Elm Avenue, a distance of 4000 feet. This street is a main thoroughfare and opens up the whole Norfolk Downs section.

Sea Street leading to Houghs Neck was authorized to be rebuilt, but owing to the fact that heavy teaming was being done on it in connection with the building of a sea wall along Manet Avenue, the construction work was postponed until the sea wall was finished.

Smith Street, West Quincy, was rebuilt with granite block pavings. Owing to the steep grade and the heavy loads of granite hauled over it, it was thought that a macadam surface would not last for any period.

Granolithic Sidewalks.

Very little work was done on permanent sidewalks, only such work as was absolutely necessary.

The widening of the sidewalks on the westerly side of Hancock Street, between Saville Street and Depot Street and on Saville Street between Hancock Street and the railroad station, was a great improvement and very much needed and appreciated.

A granolithic sidewalk was built on the westerly side of Washington Street between Revere Road and Cherry Avenue in front of the new Spooner Block.

Edgestones.

The only new edgestone laid during the year was in connection with the rebuilding of Smith Street and the granolithic sidewalks.

Elimination of Grade Crossings.

The question of the elimination of grade crossings was taken up early in the year in the Legislature and the Old Colony Railroad attorney asked for a continuance to give the interested parties a chance for an agreement.

A meeting was held in the Mayor's office at which the railroad's representatives, Barnes and Tuttle, were present, and representatives of the Legislature, Bates and Whitman, Quincy Board of Trade, Committee from the City Council, also the Mayor and the City Engineer of this city.

A modified "Decree Plan" was favored whereby Granite Street Bridge was to be raised 2 feet to give a greater clearance under the bridge; Water Street Bridge to be raised 6 inches to give a sufficient depth for floor beams. A new street was to be built to take the place of the present School Street crossing of the railroad 400 feet north of the present bridge; the Granite Street Freight Yard to be raised about 8 feet. These changes were made to eliminate some of the objections that were raised against the "Decree Plan" by the citizens of Quincy. By these changes an additional expense was added to the cost of elimination of grade crossings of about $90,000, of which the Old Colony Railroad Company pays 65 per cent or about $59,000, State of Massachusetts pays 12½ per cent or about $11,000, Bay State Street Railway Company 12½ per cent or about $11,000, City of Quincy 10 per cent or about $9,000.

The Old Colony Railroad Company agreed to start the work in the vicinity of the Quincy Station in the early spring, but the Bay State Street Railway Company refused to sign the agreement on account of its financial difficulties and therefore no work has been done.

Assessors' Plans.

The work of making tracings of the Assessors' plans was continued the past year and Wards 1 and 2 about three hundred plans are almost completed. About one hundred tracings of Ward 3 have been made but are in an unfinished condition.

Sea Wall at Houghs Neck.

After several years efforts to get the state to build a sea wall along Manet Avenue to protect the shore from the encroachment of the sea, the Mayor was finally successful in getting the state to appropriate $15,000 for this purpose and the City of Quincy appropriated $5,000 for the same and work was begun in the fall, but owing to the early winter, the work had to be suspended until the spring of 1918.

Washington Street Widening.

The Fore River Shipbuilding Plant was enlarged double and the question of getting the men to and from work quickly was a big problem. Mr. Smith and His Honor, the Mayor, went to Washington and at a conference with the United States Government officials it was arranged to widen Washington Street and to double track the Bay State Street Railway from Quincy Square to Cleverly Court; the United States Government to pay for all construction and the City of Quincy to pay for the additional land required. Construction work was begun about the middle of November and the early winter made a suspension necessary until next spring. When the work is finished the City of Quincy will have a first-class street from Quincy Square to the Quincy Point Bridge, over Weymouth Fore River.

Victory Shipbuilding Plant at Squantum.

The country being at war, the United States government decided to build a Destroyer Plant at Squantum, and work was begun with a rush late last fall and pushed with all possible dispatch so as to begin the actual shipbuilding about the first of the year 1918.

Buildings, streets, sewers, drains, etc., had to be built. A new bridge across the Neponset River about 2000 feet easterly of the railroad bridge was built which enabled the Boston Elevated Railway Company to bring the workmen direct onto the job, thereby solving the supply of workmen.

The enlarging of the Fore River Plant and the building of a new plant at Squantum necessarily brings a large force of men into Quincy and if there were houses sufficient they would live here.

This question of housing is now before the officials of the United States government and the City of Quincy and something will be done the coming year.

For financial statement see Auditor's Report.

Respectfully submitted,

PATRICK F. O'BRIEN, City Engineer.

REPORT OF BOARD OF SURVEY.

January 15, 1918.

To His Honor, the Mayor, and Members of the City Council:

Gentlemen: The Board of Survey respectfully presents herewith its third annual report for the year ending December 31, 1917.

The board was organized February 9, 1917, with one new member, Mr. Joseph H. McPherson. Mr. Nichols was elected chairman, and Mr. P. F. O'Brien, clerk.

An appropriation of fifty dollars was made and later an additional fifty dollars, making a total appropriation of one hundred dollars.

Expenditures as follows:

Advertising.....	$34.77
Postage.....	1.50
	<hr/>
	$36.27
Balance.....	63.73
	$100.00

The board by virtue of powers vested therein by Sections 3, 4 and 7 of Chapter 704 of the Acts of the year 1914, and after due notice and public hearing in accordance therewith, had plans made and placed on file at the office of the City Engineer of the following streets or ways of the City of Quincy:

Warren Avenue, Ward 5, from Standish Avenue to Hancock Street.

Vassall Street, Ward 5, from Freeman Street to Tyler Street.

Private Way, Ward 2, from Baxter Avenue to Shaw Street.

The law to establish a Board of Survey in the city of Quincy was printed in the City Telegram to familiarize the public with the duties and powers in the laying out of new streets.

The board would again call the attention of the City Council to the extension of dead end streets before the adjacent territory is built upon.

It is manifestly the intent of the act creating this board that action shall be taken to provide a systematic laying out of public ways with due regard to future development of the city—grades, drainage and possible extension, to avoid dead end streets and irregular layouts which might create conditions which would render much desired and necessary public improvements impracticable or prohibitive because of heavy expense. To safeguard against such conditions the board now has on file in the office of the City Engineer, plans which involve land taking, and recommends the building and completion of such streets and ways at such time as the city government deems it wise and necessary so to do and respectfully asks the Mayor and Councillors for their co-operation in remedying some existing conditions.

Respectfully submitted,

WALTER F. NICHOLS,
Chairman of Board of Survey.

REPORT OF THE PLANNING BOARD.

To His Honor, the Mayor, and Members of the City Council.

Gentlemen: The third annual report of the Planning Board is herewith submitted.

The board organized for 1917 with three new members, Mr. E. C. Sargent, Mr. James E. W. Geary and Mr. Edw. E. Palmer.

Wilson Marsh was elected chairman and City Engineer P. F. O'Brien, clerk.

The continued gracious courtesy of the city's chief executive provided for its meetings in the Mayor's office. Fifteen meetings have been held.

The chairman represented the board at the Annual Conference of the Massachusetts Federation of Planning Boards held at Worcester.

Harvey H. Pratt, Esq., representing South Shore towns interested in the Pilgrim Highway, met with the board at our meeting and gave a graphic talk upon the traditions and landmarks of the early days. The board called a meeting of representatives of the South Shore, held in Colonial Hall.

In the order of the meetings at which they were discussed, the following subjects were taken up.

Later in this report some of them will be taken up more in detail.

The proposed new decree affecting the grade crossing at Water Street, and studies both for a new street through the Town Brook valley and a footpath from Granite Street to the Quincy Station with a public alley from the square to intersect it, were made. A building line upon Holbrook Road at the Norfolk Downs Station was recommended.

A comprehensive plan for surface drainage for the city to be compiled under expert advice and to comprise the entire city at an expense of $2500, was formulated.

Under a resolve of the Council, the board made a study for the extension of Hall Place through the Ward 4 playground to Adams Street and recommended that consideration be postponed until there was increased public demand for its development.

A footpath from Common Street to give access to the Branch Library, Parkway and Willard School was planned and it is recommended that the Council take early action upon this inexpensive method of offering relief to that section of the city.

Under a resolve of the Council the question of acquiring the triangle at School and Franklin Streets was taken up with the heirs of the late Daniel Baxter and at the final meeting of the Council the plot was accepted by the city.

The subject of a footbridge to connect Merrymount Park with Pine Island was investigated and is recommended.

Des Moines Road Extension.

Possibly the most far-reaching public proposition of the year is the plan published herewith of an extension of Des Moines Road through the brook valley in a direct line, with a particularly level grade across Scammell Street to Quincy Avenue at Water Street. This will give an exceptionally easy and direct thoroughfare from the heart of the city direct to the Fore River works and would be well adapted both for pedestrians and vehicles. With the increased development of Water Street and the removal of the grade crossing, teaming from the Quarry section and Quincy Adams would find this outlet of great value. Land now unavailable would be opened up and betterments should pay for the entire outlay required.

Increased playground facilities have been considered and while the city has a good start in this direction, the board is of the opinion that the future will require all and more than farsighted consideration can enumerate at this time. The entire head at Point Holes should be added to the Ward 2 playground and the new schools should come in for increased facilities in that direction.

A plan to interest the five schools in the Pilgrim Highway by means of a photographic contest was started. The large map of the highway and its keymap were displayed at the Public Library. The Coddington and Massachusetts Fields Schools responded, but the three remaining schools in the section are still to be heard from. We ask the indulgence of these two until complete returns may be made.

City Square Traffic.

Upon the question of additional locations of the Bay State Street Railway in City Square, this board has taken a decided stand after much deliberation. We submit our correspondence herewith and, in view of the fact that the subject will probably come before the Council of 1918, again ask that you consider seriously the possibility of relieving City Square of the added burden of additional curves, turnouts, and crossovers requested by the street railway.

Quincy, Mass., November 15, 1917.

Hon. Joseph L. Whiton, Mayor, and the City Council,
Quincy, Mass.

Gentlemen: The Planning Board desires to call to your attention, at the present time, the rearrangement of tracks of the Bay State Street Railway coming into City Square, and to the chance to eliminate to a great extent the present great congestion in this square.

It is the opinion of this board that the tracks in Depot Street, Saville Street and Temple Street should be abandoned; that the main line in Hancock Street be as at present, double track moved easterly to a new location with a double track branch-off on the northerly end, a double track branch-off for the Houghs Neck line with straight double tracks in Washington Street from the double track branch-off at the northerly end. One cross connection should be put in about at Depot Street if the Bay State Street Railway Company desires it.

We further recommend that an island platform be constructed between the tracks in Washington Street northerly of Coddington Street.

Yours truly,

QUINCY PLANNING BOARD,
By P. F. O'BRIEN, Clerk.

December 3, 1917.

Quincy City Council.

Gentlemen: By act creating this board the duty is set forth to advise upon conditions, present or prospective, affecting the physical and civic welfare of the city.

The first subject considered, after its creation, was a study of the conditions of traffic in City Square. Our communication, referred to the Council at its last meeting, covers what we consider necessary requirements to maintain continuous and reasonably safe traffic through the city. Since forwarding this communication, representatives of our board have had conferences with the Bay State Street Railway Company and the Fore River Company, representing the United States government.

We reiterate our opinion that City Square should not be used as a street railway terminal, particularly as modern operation of street railways involves the use of one or more trailer cars. By the adoption of the plan suggested to you by our board in our previous communication the surplus cars would be removed from City Square and can either be operated from crossovers, located in Hancock Street northerly of Hancock Square, or, when trains of more than one car are operated as seems likely in the immediate future, the Street Railway Company can establish a loop on property outside the public highways.

It seems to us that a real opportunity is presented to relieve the present dangerous conditions to our citizens in this very congested square, whereas the Street Railway Company plans add several additional dangerous conditions instead of giving any relief.

Moreover, the already bad curves into Saville Street and Depot Street are further complicated by an additional sharp curve into Depot Street.

Respectfully yours,

QUINCY PLANNING BOARD,

By P. F. O'BRIEN, Clerk.

We desire to submit that the plan of tracks for City Square requested by the Bay State Street Railway Company is wrong from the standpoint of operating cars as well as congesting vehicular traffic and adding to dangers already obtaining in regard to pedestrians.

The plan suggested by this board, routing cars through the square with surplus cars turned back from points outside the congested area, is backed up by the leading transportation experts of the country. The following are considered axiomatic in regard to handling car traffic:

1. Cars should be operated on the principle of through routing, avoiding so-called loop operation wherever possible.

2. Terminals should be eliminated as far as is possible; lines should be operated through a city and not terminate therein.

3. Curve operation, especially the outside curves as provided in the layout requested by the company, are the weakest points in the system, and the source of maximum delay and congestion during the rush hours.

The board has again taken up the question of improving Willard Street with the Highway Commission, and forwarded copy of its correspondence to Senators Nash and Perrin.

In this report will be found a view of City Square showing the congestion which occurred during the fall. Also we submit a view, possibly but little known to the citizens in general, a part of the Furnace Brook Parkway in the "Missing Link" which only requires 2000 feet of construction to be made available.

Four photographs are published of Pine Island, two showing the upland of which there are four acres and the beach, three and three-fourths acres, with adjoining meadow.

By the deed of gift of the heirs of the late Nathaniel F. Safford of Milton, any question of the right of way to the island is eliminated. Two views show the island from different points in the parkway. This has been the property of the city since the original gift of Merrymount Park, and we recommend that a footbridge be constructed that the public may enjoy this recreation spot at tidewater, for all time.

It is a source of satisfaction to the board to note that the recommendations of the past have been realized by the removal of the fountain in City Square; that tracks have been ordered relocated; that a 12-foot sidewalk has been constructed between Depot and Saville Streets, and that its suggested building line on Washington Street has been made available by the fortunes of war. In this connection we offer the suggestion that residents avail themselves of the City's Nursery and replace trees where possible along the street. They would necessarily have to go in upon private land.

The decided improvement of the curve on Adams Street at the foot of the hill is one that is appreciated by many who use it during the season.

While the cloud of a world-wide conflict is over us the board shares with other patriotic citizens the feeling of economy but reiterates its recommendations, which have not yet materialized, of an adequate comfort station for City Square and a suitable waiting room.

Although a new City Hall may still be a dream of the future, our sketch with suggested improvements is still available for consideration.

The plan to extend Greenleaf Street through to Adams Street and upon its easterly end to Sea Street is in the estimation of a majority of this board, a much needed improvement, and it is the hope of the board that favorable action may be taken upon it by the Council in 1918.

Problems for 1918.

Problems for 1918 will consist of conservation of waste material and consideration of the increasing housing projects.

The Fore River Company, at this time, has on its pay roll 11,846 employees and is steadily mounting to 14,000. The Victory Plant figures upon 6,000 men. From these figures it can readily be seen that any housing to accommodate more than a fraction of these is out of the question. Transportation is equally inadequate from force of circumstances.

While it is entirely desirable to have the single houses and bungalows now building, which give a sense of family life to their tenants, it is also a fact that the life of these cottages is only a matter of thirty to fifty years, and their valuation does not by any means compensate the city for the expense it undergoes for their maintenance.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES.

To His Honor, the Mayor of the City of Quincy:

The Trustees of the Thomas Crane Public Library beg leave to submit herewith their forty-seventh annual report:

The past year shows a continued growth of the library in circulation and usefulness. Since our last report the open bookshelves previously ordered have been placed in position in the main hall and are now in use. They consist of six standard stacks made by the Art Metal Construction Company, and together with the reflectors for lighting them, are colored in harmony with the woodwork. The open-shelf arrangement is now recognized as the best and most approved method in library work of placing books before the reading public, and we feel sure that it will be appreciated by all who use it.

The war and war activities have increased our field for usefulness, although at the same time, of course, it has increased our difficulties. In the early part of the year we placed the library grounds at the disposal of the city for cultivation as a potato patch, with the understanding that the grounds be left in good condition ready for seeding in the fall. This was done, but because of labor conditions it seemed wiser to defer sowing to grass until spring.

September 12, at the request of the authorities at Washington, a meeting was held at the library, of the Trustees, the Librarian and interested citizens, and a Local War Library Council was organized. Thanks to the loyal co-operation of the chairmen of the various precincts of the city and the collectors, we succeeded in raising the sum of $2365.42, including a check of $100 kindly contributed by Mr. Albert Crane, as our portion of the fund being collected throughout the country to be used to establish libraries for the soldiers.

During the latter part of the year because of the great activity at the Fore River Plant, the city found it necessary to widen Washington Street, and this involved the taking of a strip of land from the library grounds about nineteen feet wide. Incidental to the widening it may, and probably will, become necessary to remove the trees which now are on the new sidewalk, and also to regrade that portion of the grounds. The city authorities and those in charge of the work have consulted us in regard to various matters affecting the library grounds, and we are assured of their assistance in restoring them to their proper condition.

Our great difficulty, emphasized particularly by the war conditions, is the absolute need of increasing the salaries of our assistants so that we may keep our valuable trained workers instead of allowing the library to become a training school for furnishing workers for other libraries. The salaries should be increased and should be commensurate with the value of the services rendered.

The need of a lecture hall for story hours, club meetings, exhibits and such, is keenly felt. It would greatly increase the usefulness and efficiency of the library. In closing we wish again to emphasize the need of a branch library or reading room in Wollaston. That section of the city has long since outgrown the basket-delivery stage. As we have stated in our former reports, the only reason that we have not already established such a branch is because of lack of funds. Again we wish also to emphasize the necessity of larger quarters in West Quincy. We have entirely outgrown the present quarters, and the work is being done under great difficulties. Again we repeat that in our opinion it is essential that the city should own the buildings occupied by the library branches.

Respectfully submitted for the Trustees,

GEORGE W. ABELE, Chairman.

REPORT OF LIBRARIAN.To the Trustees of the Thomas Crane Public Library:

I have the honor to submit my report for the year ending December 31, 1917.

The library has circulated more books than in any previous year, namely 183,934, an increase of 15,832 over 1916. This increase has likewise been larger than in any previous year except in 1913—increase, 30,427—due to the first full year of two branch reading rooms. The circulation as well as the increases from each desk may be seen in the appended statistics. It is noteworthy that in a gain of over 6,000 in the children's room fiction is lower by 3½ per cent.

The rebinding and the repairing and mending of the books as well as the replacing of popular worn out copies have been kept up in the wear and tear of an increasing circulation, and only lack of funds should allow this to fall into arrears.

There has been an unusual number of gifts, 609, the largest except in 1871 and 1872, the days of the library's beginning. These gifts included 169 volumes from Mrs. W. G. Corthell, of which forty-two volumes, being duplicates, were sent to the West Quincy reading room; 381 books in the Italian language from the Quincy Società Operaia di Mutuo Soccorso, and twenty-seven books in the German language from Mr. Peter W. Branschheid.

Among the accessions were "Luther Burbank: his methods and discoveries," in twelve volumes; some important works on shipbuilding and marine engineering, and other technical books, but not nearly enough to meet the demand, which lately at the Atlantic reading room has been from men from the new Victory Plant for books on naval construction and gasoline engines.

There are constant requests to add to our limited collection of books of music, the circulation of which was 1,581, and we should not lose sight of the refining arts in the stern practical demands.

We have begun the much needed school duplicate collection by the purchase of 766 books and added 365 duplicate copies of other books to the juvenile collection, these latter being on deposit at the branches. These 1,131 duplicates are but a "drop in the bucket" for the constant and ever increasing demands of the Branches and schools. The number of books issued from the children's room to teachers and schools for the year is 1,969; from the West Quincy reading room, 648; from the Atlantic reading room, 311. A selected list of books for the fifth and sixth grade pupils was published. Both this and the seventh and eighth grade list of last year seem to be appreciated by the teachers and pupils, judging by the constant use of the books. While over 300 more pictures have been circulated from the small collection, here is a need of money to be spent in building up this recognized valuable aid in the work with teachers and schools, both at the Central Library and at the Branches.

A marked improvement was made in the Children's room by the changed position of the delivery desk, all the children in the room now being in front of the attendant, and by the better lighting resulting from the new plans. On May 18, a flag was unfurled over the entrance, and 600 Codding-ton School children proudly took part in the exercises. The Christmas entertainment given in the basement under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Reed was enjoyed by some 150 children.

Statistics of Branches may be of interest. Books on deposit at West Quincy 1,535, own collection 881; on deposit at Atlantic 1,235, own collection 581. Average number of books exchanged per month, West Quincy, 105, Atlantic, 104. I cannot leave this subject without calling attention to the overcrowded quarters of the West Quincy reading room in the evening, where, in a room thirty feet square, with tables and chairs seating thirty, it is not uncommon to have sixty-five or seventy people especially during cold weather. Discipline is difficult and adults find little room or inducement but to exchange their books and go out.

The service to Norfolk Downs had dwindled to so few books that it was decided to discontinue the delivery basket the middle of July as not paying for weekly expressage. But through the kind co-operation of Mr. and Mrs. Carstairs, who agreed to receive and care for the books without pay, the service was resumed and about twenty-five books per month are sent by parcel post to approximately eight families. In Wollaston about thirty-five families use the basket with an average circulation of nearly 114 per month. This service has been continued for over thirty years, and the Wollaston Woman's Club are most anxious for better library facilities for their community.

The fulfilling of one of the long cherished hopes of the librarian to see this library's collection entirely reclassified has failed of realization just in sight of the goal by Miss Alexander's call to Washington. It has been impossible in this arduous year for anyone else here to finish the work, which, let us hope, is only temporarily abandoned. The other ideal, the open-shelf book room, has begun to be a reality by the placing of about 1,500 volumes each of fiction and non-fiction upon the stacks installed in the reading room. Although, owing to the delay in lighting, this service was not ready until November, many words of appreciation have come from the public for this accessibility to a greater number of books. Exclusive of these and all other collections in the reading room, over 2,000 books on special subjects have been placed here for readers during the year.

The privileges of the library were extended to the guards at the Fore River Plant, to all war workers there and elsewhere in Quincy, and to the sailors at Camp Hingham. We spend no time in keeping statistics of readers or in recording library use, but a larger number of men read or consulted the reference books in the room. The aviators and sailors came to the Atlantic reading room in the summer, and this winter men from the Victory Plant come there either to register or to read in the room.

By no means has the publicity work of the Library been limited to the subject of war, but space forbids further reference except to what will appear later in that connection.

A list of useful and up-to-date books on business was issued late in the year and copies have been sent to business and industrial organizations, stores, salesmen, bookkeepers, etc.

Inasmuch as there had been only revisions of the registration for nine years, and as the numbers were above 13,000, on July 1 a re-registration was begun, and on December 31 practically 5,430 persons were actually using the Library. A total of 2,065 new borrowers is recorded for the year versus 1,870 in 1916.

The average number of readers during the twelve Sundays at the beginning of the year that the Library was open for reading and study was fifty-eight, the proportion of High School pupils thirty-eight per cent. In November it was deemed not advisable to open the library on Sundays in view of the increased expense for heating, lighting, and janitor's service. The seriousness of the coal situation at the present writing has fully justified our action.

Staff.

At a meeting of your Board in September, Miss Alexander was granted leave of absence to engage in war work for the American Red Cross. At the same time Miss Packard resigned to accept a position in the children's room of the Boston Public Library, and is now children's librarian at the Waltham Public Library. Then followed the resignation in December of Miss Wainwright after a period of over seven years of valuable constructive work at the West Quincy reading room. Miss Gertrude Callahan was placed in charge there. Miss Elizabeth Reed, who during her apprenticeship with us had taken a course in English literature at Simmons College in the winter, and had passed the summer course in library science there, was added to the staff in September. Since April we have been fortunate in having with us Miss Muriel Almon whose knowledge of books and literature is daily called upon. And just here let me say that if we would keep the workers who have become valuable to the Library through training and experience we should raise salaries all along the line, or the standard of service of the Library cannot be maintained.

Library War Service.

From the latter part of July when through the local press, posters, etc., the Librarian made her appeal to the public to contribute books and magazines for the soldiers at Camp Devens or elsewhere, a gratifying response through the year made it possible to send 764 volumes—622 fiction and 142 non-fiction—and uncounted magazines, the gift of 100 or more individuals. Many of the books were most attractive and in perfect condition; sixty were repaired here, a few were patriotically rebound by our binder without charge; a neat book plate was pasted in each to show that it was the gift of a citizen of Quincy. At the request of the Library Commission of Massachusetts some of the books were sent to the Boston Public Library and from there sent to southern camps, to forts and transports. Our thanks are due to Miss M. Lizzie Fernald and Miss Georgiana C. Lane for collecting some of the books for us, to Miss Sweeney and Miss

Eaton, High School pupils, who gave us an afternoon's help with the pasting, and to both daily papers for the generous space in their columns.

In September, the week of the 24th, came Library War Fund Week, during which the American Library Association with the Library War Council appointed by the War Department, conducted the campaign to raise funds to build and maintain a library at every training camp and cantonment for soldiers, sailors, and airmen at home and abroad. In the strenuous drive with the slogan "$1,000,000 for 1,000,000 books for 1,000,000 men," Quincy's library gave ready response to do its share by raising $1.00 for every twenty of the city's population.

Subscriptions large and small were received. An entertainment was given by the Library staff September 24, in Wollaston, followed by a dance and candy sale; the same repeated in Quincy September 28, followed by a Library exhibit. These two evenings, together with the proceeds of a dance at the Quincy Yacht Club arranged by Miss Whittemore, and contributions from the staff, netted the fund $168.88. Eighteen sailors from the United States Naval Training Station at Hingham gave a part or the whole of their one day of liberty in the week for our cause, and the net returns of these enthusiastic collectors were $252.54.

The echoes of this local library effort did not die away until November, at which time the sum of $2,365.42 had been sent to Washington by Mr. Sanborn, the treasurer of the local War Library Council. With an estimated population of 45,000, Quincy joined the cities of Massachusetts which exceeded their quota. To the local press hearty thanks and appreciation are here given for their free publicity.

All library workers rejoice that the fund has now reached more than $1,500,000 for the purchase of books, the erection of buildings, and the administration of the service, and that more than half a million books have been given by the public, sorted by the librarians and shipped to camps, forts, training stations and naval vessels.

Our war publicity work has been carried on along the lines of the three fundamental needs for the winning of the war: Men, food and ships. A large number of books on military and naval art and science were bought, extra copies kept in reading room, lists of same printed and distributed. We have bought books on food production and conservation, have maintained a bulletin board devoted entirely to this subject, secured latest government pamphlets and bulletins, printing and distributing a list on canning and preserving. We have published articles in the local papers on these topics of current interest, and have co-operated with the Quincy Food Production and Conservation Committee in calling attention to library material at meetings planned by the committee. We have endeavored as far as possible to meet the needs of the men in the shipyards for their technical and mechanical books.

Collections of books on the war in all its aspects have been placed in the reading room. Under the heading "War Time Reading for War Time Co-operation" have been grouped books on thrift, courage, physical hygiene, foreign trade expansion, and Red Cross work.

Several children came to the children's room in the summer, and instead of having a story hour, made fifty scrap-books for wounded soldiers, which have been sent through the Massachusetts Library Commission to the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital Unit in France.

The free use of the West Quincy reading room on Friday evenings has been given to the West Quincy Branch of the Quincy Women's Preparedness League. A little play was given in Atlantic by children from the reading room there for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Summarizing briefly the needs: an ever increasing material for work with schools, larger quarters at West Quincy, a Branch reading room at Wollaston, increase of salaries, and the great and crying need for the Quincy library to furnish the technical books, many of which are expensive, called for by those studying to help win this great war and notably by the men who come to us from the two great shipbuilding plants in our midst.

With the still soaring cost of our supplies, to which even electric lamps and the extra cost of postage add their share, it is difficult to avoid Scylla and not fall upon Charybdis in the desire to give as economical an administration as is consistent with our very existence as an educational institution, recognizing the need of rigid economy in a year of war.

Respectfully submitted,

ALICE G. WHITE, Librarian.

REPORT OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE

To the Citizens of Quincy:

In compliance with the law the School Committee of the city of Quincy submits its annual report for the year 1917.

It is with gratification that the Committee can state that in spite of the unusual demands upon the appropriation made at the beginning of the year, the expense of running the schools has been kept within that appropriation.

The change last year in our City Charter brought with it a change in our School Committee. The former Board of nine members automatically dropped out and was replaced by a Board of six members, the Mayor becoming Chairman of the Board by virtue of his office. In view of this smaller body, sub-committees were given up and all matters are considered at a "Round Table" conference. We feel that this plan is working with entire satisfaction and we also wish to express our appreciation of the interest shown in school matters by our present Chairman, Mayor Joseph L. Whiton. Regular in attendance at our meetings, keenly interested in all matters pertaining to our schools, any plan or suggestion for their betterment meets with his hearty co-operation and support.

The unprecedented conditions brought about by the war are placing upon our schools a responsibility which must be recognized and met. More than ever should the importance of education be emphasized. Upon the children of today will largely devolve the task of readjustment and reconstruction. President Lowell of Harvard says, "The war has demonstrated that education from the lowest to the highest grade is not an ornament but a prime factor in the efficiency of a nation." These increased and unusual responsibilities are placing much additional work upon those who are carrying on our schools and the Committee takes pleasure in testifying to the broad and unselfish spirit in which these added burdens are being met by our Superintendent, Mr. Albert L. Barbour, and by our teachers. It seems not unlikely that these demands will increase rather than decrease, but the people of Quincy can rest assured that any new demands will be met wisely and efficiently.

It seems not out of place to speak of the patriotic enthusiasm of the children, every one of whom is proving the statement recently made by our Superintendent, "Every child is a true democrat; every child is a true patriot."

The past year shows much good work done. The Home-Making School for girls has fully justified itself and we hope that the time is not far distant when an appropriation can be made to enlarge the scope of its work.

The two new school buildings, the Daniel Webster and the Francis W. Parker, have been occupied since the beginning of the school year and have amply proved their need. The erection of the Victory plant at Squantum emphasized the already existing need of a school in that district which would obviate the great objection of transporting children to and from the Quincy School by street car. The Committee has approved plans for a one-story building having eight rooms and an assembly hall. This is a new type in school architecture but one which makes for economy, efficiency and the safety of the children. The Mayor and the City Council have appropriated a sufficient sum of money and work will be begun as soon as the weather permits.

The economic situation brought about by war conditions necessarily affected our teaching force and it was felt to be only a matter of justice that the salaries of the teachers be increased. This increase was quite general, though not large, and as it extends over a period of a few years will not be a great financial burden to the city.

Miss Lucy M. Hallowell, the assistant in the School Committee rooms for a long term of years, tendered her resignation this fall and we wish to express our appreciation of her fidelity, her ability and her whole-hearted interest in her work.

We note with satisfaction the increasing interest which the parents are taking in the schools and the growing co-operation between the school and the home. Many causes are contributing to this but none in a greater degree than the assembly halls which serve a purpose not only special but broad and far reaching.

In closing, the Committee bears witness to its interest in the work which falls upon it and to the harmonious relations which exist within its own body and between that body and the Chairman and Superintendent.

The foregoing report, presented by a special committee consisting of Mrs. Alice M. Arnold and Dr. N. S. Hunting, was adopted as the annual report of the School Committee of 1917.

ALBERT L. BARBOUR,
Secretary.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Mrs. Arnold and Gentlemen:

I submit herewith my ninth annual report as Superintendent of the Schools of this city, it being the forty-third in the series of such reports.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE AND ACCOMMODATIONS

The conditions which are so rapidly transforming our city into a busy industrial community have been steadily increasing our school attendance notwithstanding the draft which these same industries have been making on the ranks of the older boys and girls. Comparison of present attendance conditions shows that the increase was never greater than at the present time — the close of this year. Very fortunately, the completion of the Francis W. Parker and Daniel Webster schools came in time to obviate a degree of congestion that would otherwise have been unbearable and the city is more comfortably provided for, so far as present needs are concerned, than at any time within my experience. Although at both the new schools it was found necessary to utilize all the rooms, the relief upon the several contiguous districts has been such as to eliminate the overcrowded class rooms to which we had recently become accustomed. It needs to be said, however, that at the present rate of growth eight to twelve new class rooms should be added yearly merely to maintain the present even balance and the passing of any year in which that degree of school building is not maintained merely postpones what must ultimately be provided.

For the future, plans for the Squantum section of the city are already in hand and provision for the relief of the High School is under discussion. The present attendance at the High School, though much in excess of the capacity of the building for efficient work, is not apt to increase until after the conclusion of the war, at which time the city should be immediately ready to meet the situation.

This year under the revised charter the School Committee has taken charge of the repair of its school buildings. While this has entailed considerable additional executive work, the opportunity to systematize the plan of upkeep and to secure greater promptness of repair is well worth the additional time for oversight that may be required.

So far as possible, the classes of the Industrial School have been called upon to make any repairs that they conveniently could do and the amount of work done in electrical and plumbing lines alone would have required hundreds of dollars if otherwise done. Proper attention to the prevention of deterioration would urge that a certain number of buildings be painted each year on the outside and that a definite number of school rooms each year should be freshened with paint and kalsomine. This procedure has been begun. Its continuance will keep the school property in far better condition than ever before and it is the policy which every wise property owner would adopt with his own property.

A comparison of the costs of the School Committee's work for the present year will show a marked increase over the year preceding. For this no apology is necessary. It will be of interest to indicate in what items this increase was most marked.

For instruction, a greater number of teachers was required because of the opening of thirty-two new school rooms and because of the increase of salary which was granted both for high and elementary school teachers. The cost of operation of the schools has risen to a marked degree because of the increased cost of fuel and because the Committee during the past summer instead of simply providing for its needs until January purchased all the coal it was able to secure at that time and consequently even now has at least a full two months' supply of fuel on hand. The cost of maintenance, in itself a charge of respectable proportions, is simply a transfer from the Public Works department budget of past years, and is not an increase, in fact. The cost of textbooks and stationery, always a constantly rising item because of increased numbers, has been affected this past year by the same causes that have increased the costs of all commodities.

Even with the large general increase of the past year, the per capita expenditure of this city for the education of its children is still much less than that of the vast majority of the cities of the state.

WAR AND THE SCHOOLS

We find ourselves at this time with all our thoughts and energies centred on the war in which our nation is engaged. It could not be otherwise than that our preparations for this war and our gradually increasing engagement in it should profoundly affect the schools and the thousands of school children. New demands upon the time of the school children and teachers are constantly pressing for attention; new activities of a war nature are steadily becoming a normal part of school work as the younger people prepare themselves to do their share in the unknown times that lie ahead of us.

At the outset it may be said without fear of contradiction that the children may be depended upon absolutely to do whatever may lie within their power to a degree only limited by their strength and means, inasmuch as patriotism, devotion to country and the spirit of service are innate characteristics of childhood. Because of the manifold demands that may arise and the great number of opportunities for service, all or nearly all probably good, it has seemed best, in order that there might be no waste energy or division of effort, to ally our efforts with the Junior Red Cross organization and to undertake only such work as may be recommended by them or may be a recognized part of their programme. Probably most of the schools of the city will secure school membership in the Red Cross organization while all schools will devote their activities wherever possible to the Red Cross work.

The war, moreover, is affecting our schools in the large number of withdrawals it is bringing about both of teachers and older pupils. A number of our young men teachers have withdrawn and enlisted in various branches of the army or navy service; a few of our young women teachers have given up teaching for business, while a large number of older boys or girls have been induced either by the economic pressure of high cost of living at home or by the temptation of the prevailing high wage scale, to withdraw from high school and become wage earners. This condition is nation wide and will without doubt continue. The problem of securing competent teachers, at all times the primary problem for a superintendent of schools to consider, has in the present times been one to absorb a very large part of his time and energies and the loss of good teachers can only with great difficulty be made good. This, too, will be a problem of increasing gravity.

So far as withdrawals of older pupils from school is concerned, the school has a positive duty to perform in acquainting itself with the reason, so far as it may be known, for these withdrawals and in acting as a guide and adviser to the young people concerned and their parents. Where the impelling reason for withdrawal is, as it frequently will be, the economic need at home, the school can frequently help by guiding the child into occupations that are properly adapted to his strength and capacity and that may possibly hold out hope for advancement. Where the impelling motive for leaving school is the glittering one of high wages and no real need is present, the teacher can hardly emphasize too much upon both parent and child the folly of such a course. Instead of rushing blindly from the school room and into the industries, where there is no financial necessity for so doing, the child should remain at his books just as long as possible.

If the time comes in the course of this war when the demands of government work or of the industries vital to the war call for helpers to do work which children can do, then it will be time for children to respond, but to rush blindly into business or productive life, in most cases on unessential work, is the height of folly and will work ultimate harm to the community.

The war, with its demand on our interest and attention, should not so absorb us that we allow our efforts to flag in the endeavor that we are making to provide every child with an education and put every child into physical condition such that he may profit by an education. In the last two or three years Quincy has made rapid progress in the welfare work that it has carried on in the school department. Its school nurses, dental clinic, co-operation with Boston clinics for eye, ear and throat work as well as the work just begun this past year to remedy speech defects, all represent progress which under no circumstances we should lose. I had hoped that when the Parker and the Webster schools were ready there would be ample room for open air classes for children who might need them as well as classes for atypical children. Both these are needs which we should not neglect as you will agree without question, and we should seize the first opportunity presented by centrally located rooms to undertake to care for both these groups of children.

In every community the ratio of children belonging to these groups may be found to be a fairly uniform and constant one and every child in these groups offers a far more important problem than the ordinary child. As a community we can ill afford to allow children in ill health or poor physical condition to continue to labor under these handicaps if any form of special school environment or publicly provided clinical treatment will restore them to normal health and make them more valuable members of society. In like manner the child who is slower of comprehension needs special care and treatment to make his school years count for so much as possible while it is equally true that the gifted child needs to be allowed to make progress commensurate with his gifts.

In class room instruction, too, the war inevitably leaves its mark. The newspaper, daily and weekly, has become one of the principal textbooks. Geography and history have become living things, reading and oral composition have had a new impetus and there is no school room but finds itself able to teach the duties and responsibilities of citizenship far more concretely and effectively than before. By every means in our power, our teachers are endeavoring to make children realize what this republic means to us, why we must bear our part in this conflict, and what the consequences will be of failure to come through successfully. The enthusiasm and the intelligence of school children in the present situation is a stimulus to us all.

EVENING SCHOOLS

The evening schools have shown the effects of war conditions to a greater extent than any other part of the school system. Schools for non-English speaking people flourish best when there is a constant influx of people of that class and when conditions of employment are such that there is competition for opportunities and for the added wage which a knowledge of English brings. Neither of these conditions is now present, as practically no foreigners have come to us from abroad since early in the war. There is, moreover, no stress of competition in the ranks of unskilled laborers for employment; wages have increased to such an extent that they do not feel the economic handicap which ordinarily the ignorance of English brings and the burden of overtime labor as well as the temptation of its added recompense leaves the laborer too exhausted or disinclined at the close of the day to spend additional time at intellectual effort. As a result of this condition, the term which closed in the spring showed a poorer attendance than any term in many years, while the new year which opened in October proved so thoroughly disappointing that the classes were closed just previous to the Christmas holidays.

The classes at the High School for the instruction of those who wish preparation for commercial life, civil service examination or for pursuits where drawing will be of advantage, have shown a similar decrease due to causes involved in the present economic situation. Very few men or women go to evening school as a purely intellectual pleasure. The impelling motive is a desire to better one's condition in a material way, to enable one to rise above the present level, to win in industrial or commercial competition. When, as at present, opportunities are bidding for the employee and at an advanced wage scale the employee is blinded to the fact that relatively even greater opportunities are waiting on the level above and he is apt to be content with the less improvement which circumstances alone have brought about.

The term for the High School classes which has closed this month has been the least successful in point of attendance for some time. In my opinion, there is little expectation of improvement so long as the war continues.

THE HIGH SCHOOL

When the High School closed its school year last June, we looked forward, in view of the conditions around us, to a decrease of 20% in our enrollment for the new year in September. It was a welcome surprise when the opening came to find the decrease in attendance practically negligible. To a certain extent, we held our pupils better than in other high schools and in addition the growth of the city has been such as to overcome much of the shrinkage which did take place. The teaching corps of the High School has been greatly affected by war conditions. There have been more changes among the men teachers than in many years and it is with the greatest difficulty that we have been able to secure new teachers when resignations have taken place. As the war continues this difficulty will undoubtedly be accentuated and the result ultimately and inevitably will be a decreased percentage of men teachers in a school where the proportion is already too low. It is a fortunate circumstance for this school that the increased salary scale adopted by the School Committee early in the year enables us to hold our own in that respect with any of the cities of the state.

Fortunately, too, for the school, a decree of court now enables the city to make use of the Adams Temple and School Fund. A word or two on this matter will be of interest and should be made a matter of record.

As is generally known, by trusts established by President John Adams, funds were set apart the income of which should contribute to the educational good of the community. It will be of interest to note here that John Adams cited as the consideration "the veneration he felt for the residence of his ancestors and the place of his nativity and the habitual affection he bore to the inhabitants with whom he had so happily lived for more than eighty-six years and also his sincere desire to promote their happiness and the instruction of their posterity in religion, morality and all the useful arts and sciences."

In 1872 the Adams Academy was opened on this foundation and continued in active operation until 1907 when for lack of income the school was closed and has not since been re-opened. As it had become apparent that the funds available would probably never increase to a degree where they would be adequate to the demands made on them and as the public High School was already doing all that John Adams had in mind for this community, application was made to the court that the trust originally established be administered cy-pres.

As a result, the court has decreed that "the net income from the funds held under the trusts established by President John Adams may be expended by the City of Quincy acting through the School Committee with the approval of the Board of Supervisors for the furtherance of the instruction in languages, arts and sciences in the High School of the City of Quincy provided, however, that in determining said net income the City of Quincy shall require no payment from said income by reason of any taxes assessed upon any lands or other properties held in said fund, and provided further that said expenditures shall be for the enrichment of the curriculum, the providing of more skilled instruction and the facilities thereof than is now given by the City in its High School, or both, and as an addition to the amounts that would otherwise be raised by taxation for the support of such school; to the end that the income from this fund shall not be used by the City to reduce the burden of taxation for school purposes."

It is further decreed "that the income from the bequest of $10,000 by the late Charles Francis Adams may be expended by the Supervisors for the support of the High School of the City of Quincy in any manner which in their estimation may best contribute to advance the objects stated by John Adams in his deeds of gift."

It is also decreed "that the income from the Robert Charles Billings fund may be expended in accordance with the wishes of the donor for the benefit of such pupils of the High School of the City of Quincy as may be selected by the head master thereof with the consent of the School Committee. Any such income remaining unexpended may be used by the master to assist various graduates of the school in college."

The School Committee has accepted the administration of these trusts in the spirit and according to the tenor of the decree. It is plainly stated that the income must not be used to reduce the burden of taxation for school purposes. On the contrary it behooves the city in order to be sure that it does not do so, to take care that in every possible department it makes provision for its pupils as adequately and generously as any other city of its size in the state. In other words, we are compelled to increase our ordinary expenditures for High School purposes in order that we may conscientiously and scrupulously take advantage of the Adams fund.

The first move that the School Committee has made toward making use of these new funds has been in the equipping of an adequate school library and the engagement of a trained librarian. This is a step toward which I have looked forward for a long time but which lack of funds had never before made possible. For the same reason few high schools have been able to take this step though the better class of academies and fitting schools have already done so. The school library should bridge over the transition from school to after life so that the person who desires to do so will realize with clearness how easily he may continue his education and wherein the materials of education are contained.

The temporary halting in the steady increase in High School attendance only gives a brief breathing time while it emphasizes anew the necessity that the city is under of making early and adequate provision for the future. Within three years such added accommodations should be ready for use unless grave discomfort is to be experienced.

The report of Mr. Collins, the Headmaster, is as follows and deserves careful thought.

Mr. Albert L. Barbour, Superintendent of Schools:

I have the honor to hand you herewith my annual report of the progress of the Quincy High School. As in previous years it is necessary unfortunately to call attention to the crowded conditions in the school and the lack of facilities for conducting the school in any degree of comfort for pupils or teachers. The statistics following will show that the numbers for the present year are very nearly the same as for last year and this condition exists at a time when most other High Schools are noting a marked decrease in their membership. With no greater numbers than at present and by using the utmost limit of facilities offered by the present building, the work of the school can be carried on with more or less efficiency but it is easy to see that a return to normal economic conditions will bring forth the deluge.

The usual number of vacancies in the teaching force occurred at the close of the last school year and it was possible to provide efficient successors for the teachers who had resigned. Since the opening of school in September, however, the school has suffered seriously from changes due to the fact that several of the male teachers were entering the service of their country. It has been difficult to find successors for the men who have resigned and some classes have had several different teachers in a short period of time. We can only console ourselves with the thought that other educational institutions are suffering the same handicap and we are anticipating with some hope of realization that the present teaching force will remain permanent to the end of the school year.

It has been the intention of those in authority to keep certain phases of the war as far from the school as possible. This does not mean, nevertheless, that the boys and girls have not been doing their bit where they could. Several of the boys enlisted for farm work under the state and received honorable discharge for work well done. The boys of the school, under direction of male teachers, completed a census of gardens in the city for the Committee on Food Conservation. A large amount of land was successfully cultivated by the boys themselves. Recently a considerable amount of money was contributed by the pupils for the purpose of establishing a Chapter of the Junior Red Cross in the school and hereafter the pupils will devote spare time afternoons to the preparation of surgical dressings and other Red Cross work. We feel that such activities as these are properly the duty of boys and girls in our schools.

No changes have been made in the program of studies of the school during the year. Our energies have rather been devoted to holding fast what we have; a difficult task in these troublous times when war is uppermost in the minds of all, including the boys and girls. We have, however, introduced a department into the school which has placed the school in the forefront among the very progressive schools of the country. At the opening of the present school year, we instituted an up-to-date library directed by a school librarian who is devoting her entire time morning and afternoon to this work. The movement toward school libraries, while comparatively new, is gaining great momentum and is being welcomed all over the country by teachers, pupils and everyone interested in bringing literature and young people together under the most favorable circumstances.

Great praise is due public libraries for their unselfish interest in the boys and girls and their successful attempts to co-operate with the schools. Much good has come through the public libraries and the school libraries should maintain close relations with them, but greater good can come when these facilities can be in the school building available to any number of pupils at any time during the day. Our equipment consists of valuable reference books, approved fiction, standard and modern, selected periodicals, daily newspapers, and one of the strongest things that may be said in favor of the school library is that the pupils may browse about this collection of books and periodicals to their hearts' content, finding great pleasure and profit therein. Of course, the success of this movement is dependent upon intelligent direction for the boys and girls and we are fortunately able to offer this in the person of our librarian who is not only trained for her present work, but who has had several years of very successful experience in teaching the subject of English.

Some of the good results of the library have already been apparent. Pupils have been led to take a broader interest in the subjects which they are studying and this is not confined to such subjects as English and History, but has extended to every subject and every activity of the school. Boys, and girls too, have been encouraged to ride their hobbies whether it be wireless telegraphy, aeroplanes, nature work or a myriad of other things. The influence of the library has even gone beyond the school into the home and many times the librarian has been called upon to give suggestions for use in the home. In fact, there seems to be no limit to the points of contact which the school library can establish with the life of the boys and girls and it promises to become one of the most interesting and valuable of all the activities of the school.

In connection with the library, the school acknowledges with pleasure the receipt from Mr. A. L. Bassett of a copy of the life of William W. Corcoran and also the life of John Howard Payne. The school is also indebted to Mrs. Alice M. Arnold for the gift of busts of Napoleon and the Apollo Belvidere.

Again the teachers and myself have an opportunity to express our sincere appreciation of the help and support we have had from the School Committee and yourself. We should acknowledge, too, the hearty co-operation that has come from the parents of the boys and girls whom we have been trying to help and from other citizens of the city. The school is fortunate indeed in having a host of friends and supporters.

Respectfully submitted,
ERNEST L. COLLINS,
Head Master.

CONCLUSION

In concluding this report, it should be said that it never was so difficult to look ahead as it is today. Whether in the business, manufacturing, educational or any other field, we are all trying to forge ahead feeling our way, getting the the maximum results with the minimum waste or expenditure. The trust imposed in us is the most precious in the gift of this city. On the way that this trust and like trusts are administered by ourselves and others in like positions depends the future of this nation.

May I simply say that in Quincy, School Committee, Superintendent and Teachers are working in harmonious co-operation for the educational interests of the young people of the city.

Respectfully submitted,

ALBERT L. BARBOUR,

Superintendent.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT ON THE STATE-AIDED INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS

The Industrial Schools have had a most interesting year.

The Day School for boys, whose work is reported on by the Principal, Mr. Spofford, on another page, has maintained its numbers practically to capacity notwithstanding the disturbed industrial conditions and has turned out a very large amount of constructive work. Much of the repair work of the School Committee is now being attended to by this school and the new schools which have been opened this past year have been provided with teachers' desks and tables manufactured by this school.

In July when it became apparent that the most pressing need of the United States Government was to be ships and shipbuilders, a co-operative arrangement was made with the Fore River Company whereby the school began the instruction of workmen at the Fore River in certain branches of shipbuilding work. From July 1 to December 31, classes were carried on in the yard of the Fore River Company for instruction of shipwrights, shipfitters and machinists. Four instructors worked during the day and two during the night. All the training was done on machines and material furnished by the Fore River Company and the aim was to give as much intensive training to as many men as possible in order that the supply of available shipworkers might be increased as rapidly as possible. The plan of co-operation divided the expense of instructors equally between the city and the company and as the state refunds one-half of the city's expense, the net cost to the city was only one-fourth the total expense. It is interesting to record that these classes were the first of their kind to be established in this country for the purpose of speeding up war production. They were visited and studied by representatives of the United States Shipping Board and the Government has now established a special school at Newport News to train teachers to conduct similar classes in all the shipyards of the country. It is a source of satisfaction at times to feel that a pioneer piece of work has gained national recognition so rapidly.

The evening trade classes which have been so largely attended in previous years have had an even greater enrollment this year. Two terms of ten weeks each were offered. The second term beginning in October was maintained in conjunction with the Fore River Company.

The Company paid the instructors while the city furnished the rooms, light and general supervision. The term completed just before Christmas was the most largely attended in the city's history.

The Home-Making School began its second year in September in the same quarters as last year. It had at first appeared practicable to move the building and enlarge it, but the estimated cost of doing so was such as to render the project inadvisable. For the present the numbers are such that by making use of the facilities of the Coddington School, we are not too greatly handicapped. If the school is to have any growth or development in the future, other provisions will have to be made for the accommodation of the pupils.

This school, though small in numbers, has made a distinct place for itself and does a splendid piece of work. Home projects and class room instruction are closely allied and thorough training is given for that most essential of all vocations, the making of a home. The afternoon and evening classes in dressmaking and millinery have been held throughout the late fall and winter months. Groups are now working either at the Willard or the Home-Making School on every afternoon and evening of the week and there seems to be no diminution in the demand for this type of instruction.

ALBERT L. BARBOUR.

REPORT OF QUINCY INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Mr. Albert L. Barbour,

Superintendent of Schools:

I have the pleasure of submitting herewith my sixth annual report of the Quincy Industrial School.

This school began the year with eighty-nine pupils enrolled, but on account of the unusual industrial and economic conditions, this number was reduced to eighty by the last of June.

On July 1st a temporary emergency department was added to the school, namely, the Fore River Co-operative Department, the purpose of which was to render assistance in the training of partially trained mechanics, apprentices, helpers and unskilled men so that they might in the shortest possible time become more efficient producers in the ship-building program. All the instruction was given in the plant of the Fore River and embraced day instruction in the ship-fitting and shipwrighting trades and day and night instruction in the machine trade. Four instructors from this school and two instructors from vocational schools of neighboring cities were engaged in this work.

Since July 1st to date there have been nearly two hundred men under instruction in this department, their ages ranging from sixteen to fifty-six.

The Full-Time School opened in September with an enrollment of ninety-six pupils, a large proportion of whom were new this year. Many of our boys who have had a year or more at the school secured positions for the summer at high wages and did not wish to make the necessary sacrifice to complete their school training.

The work done by our boys has been of very high grade and of considerable quantity, they having completed the work on two hundred and eight orders for the schools of the city, thirty-two quartered oak teachers' desks, thirty-two quartered oak library tables and five dozen ash cans for the Public Works Department as new equipment for the two new schools, also several pieces of specially designed furniture on outside orders and a large number of ash cans and ash sifters for local hardware stores. The actual cash receipts for products were $1736.98.

Distribution of pupils to date:

Woodworking department	28
Machine department	24
Electrical department	18
Sheet metal and Plumbing departments	26
Total	96

Tuition pupils:

Braintree	4
Bridgewater	4
Middleboro	1
Weymouth	2
Total	11

Distribution of enrollment to date at Fore River Co-operative:

Shipfitting	24
Shipwrighting	8
Machine shop	28
Total	60

In order that we might know what our pupils do after leaving this school, I made inquiry of every boy who had been in attendance for a period of six months or over since the school started in 1912 and from the answers received have found that 54.4% are engaged in the trade trained for in the school, also that several of the boys who were in the school for a period of two to three years are now receiving from $1700 to $2250 per year.

In closing I wish to thank you for your helpful advice and co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,
J. GOULD SPOFFORD,
Principal.

REPORT OF QUINCY HOME-MAKING SCHOOL

Mr. Albert L. Barbour,
Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit the second report of the Home-Making School.

The last half of the first year went on much as the first. The cooking classes were given special lessons in canning, as we felt that they would be called upon to put this knowledge into practice during the summer. Other classes were formed of older women and lessons given on the canning of vegetables.

The school closed its first year with twenty-three pupils. Many of these were planning to take only one year to fill in the time between grammar school and the time when they should be old enough to work. Ten of these girls returned for the second year. The incoming class had a membership of twenty-two.

As both the kitchen and class room were too small to accommodate so large a class, the hall at the Coddington School was used as a class room and two smaller classes were formed for cooking. The need for a large kitchen is the greatest need of the school, as the work could be much more extensive with more space.

This year we have not only served the lunches to the teachers and pupils but also have done a great amount of order cooking. This had developed to quite a business until the sugar situation became so serious. This soon adjusted itself when we began making and selling the war breads, cakes and cookies. The profits of the food sales for two weeks were used for the Junior Red Cross. An extra price of two cents was charged and a printed recipe given with each order. The girls found that they could get more orders than they could fill.

The dressmaking department has become more popular as the girls have reached their second year. Some order work has been done but most of the work done by the class has been done for themselves. The sewing classes have had their share in the Red Cross work as they have completed one afghan and are now working on children's clothes for the refugees.

The use of old materials has been our keynote not only in the sewing but the millinery, and several of the girls have shown considerable skill in making the old clothing look like new.

Much interest has been shown in the course in nursing for the second term as we teach the care of children not with a doll but a real baby.

The day's program has been changed and lengthened into a seven-hour day. This extends the school day from 8.15 to 3.45. This time, however, includes the home work. One day a week each class remains at home for the purpose of cooking and house cleaning and two days a week each class leaves the school at 2.45 for practice in household sewing. While this seems like a longer day than the High School day, it must be kept in mind that there is no outside studying to be done.

Respectfully submitted,
ELIZABETH M. DOUGLAS,
Principal.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF WOODWARD INSTITUTE

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen: I submit herewith my ninth annual report as superintendent of this school.

It is quite unnecessary to say that one of our chief concerns during the latter part of this year has been the effect which the war may have on this school. This is entirely natural when we consider the experiences which similar schools or in fact all schools abroad have had to undergo. Education, a process which concerns at least 20% of a state's population, is one of its chief functions and it could hardly be otherwise when a state organizes itself for war that so great and conspicuous a function should be affected.

It is to be noted that although as yet in this country we are only beginning our preparations for war, all schools are being deeply affected and it is because the higher institutions are being affected most that the situation is of interest as concerns this school. It is well known that the colleges of the country have lost from 10 to 40 per cent of their registration; it is perhaps not so well known that the high schools and academies have lost from 5 to 25 per cent. Up to the present time a 5% loss would measure the effect on attendance at Woodward Institute; whether that loss is to increase will depend altogether upon circumstances. The loss of registration has depended upon and will continue to depend upon either economic pressure in the home, the lure of present high wages in the industries, or the economic demands of war industries.

If economic pressure in the home causes any of our girls to withdraw from Woodward before completing their course, we can only regret that such circumstances can arise. If the compelling cause is the attraction of the present high wage scale, the school should combat the tendency by every means in its power. It is an extremely short-sighted policy which would allow a temporary financial gain to cut short the period of education with its promise of increased happiness and prosperity, and yet this is an influence which is all too potent at the present time in cutting down school attendance. The duty of the girl of normal intelligence at the present time is to go on by all means with her previously planned programme of education, if possible to add to it, because there never has been such a call for trained leaders or thinkers as is bound to arise with the close of the hostilities. Therefore it is incumbent upon this country to add to its capital as represented by educated men and women rather than to allow it to diminish.

With the demand on the part of the government interests or contributing interests which would call young people, girls as well as boys, into the service, we can properly only give our heartiest co-operation. It is needless to say that such a demand has not yet arisen in this community though it may arise at some future time. Until such time there is no occasion for apprehension.

The conclusion is obvious: It is the duty of every parent whose daughter may at any time in the future consider leaving the school to weigh carefully all the motives which bear upon the subject and if it can possibly be done allow or persuade the daughter to continue her education. Such a clear-headed course is the part both of wisdom and patriotism.

Apparently the parents have viewed the situation in much the same light, because the shrinkage in our school has been much lighter up to date than in the average school of this type.

It is to be observed that the tendency of girls wishing normal or college preparation to come to this school still continues and the school is sending an increasing portion of its graduates each year to higher institutions. The achievements of those who go to college, as indicated by the reports sent back each year, indicate efficiency of preparation as well as a sterling type of girl.

There has been little change in the teaching corps since my last report. Miss MacKnight, who was with the school last year as teacher of English, was obliged by ill health to give up teaching. Her place was filled by the appointment of Miss Agnes K. Rhodes, a graduate of Boston University with several years' experience in public high school work. Miss Hazel Wayle, who had taught the dressmaking for some years in conjunction with her work at the High School, was compelled by the pressure of other work to relinquish the work here and was succeeded by Miss Marion Wilkins, a teacher of wide experience in Practical Arts classes and evening school work.

The general condition of the Institute property is excellent.

The Alumnæ prize for the best essay written by a member of the Senior Class upon an assigned subject was awarded to Julia Horrigan.

Respectfully submitted,

A. L. BARBOUR,

Superintendent.
